It's just another working day for Kelly. Get up early (can't sleep anyway), collect the day's orders and lead her death squad to exterminate the enemy. Until she looks the 'enemy' in the eyes, those beautiful, radiant eyes...

It's just another day for Tara and Julian. Get up (torn from sleep by the arrival of dawn), discuss plans for the day and make breakfast. Until the arrival of the death squad at their door...

Darren is lost, incapable, hopeless. He hides in his flat, shuts out the world and waits. Until the arrival of the angel sent to save him...and her boyfriend.

Four individuals who yearn for intimacy, acceptance and salvation but find only desolation and murder in a cold, brutal world. A drowned world.
